Career Theory

Exploring the implications of diverse concepts, models, and ideologies for researching career guidance and counselling praxis and policy

We welcome applications for the 8th ECADOC Summer School for doctoral students in career guidance and counselling, to be held in Edinburgh, Scotland (UK) on 21st-25th June 2021 inclusive. The Summer School will be hosted by Associate Professor Peter Robertson at the School of Applied Sciences at Edinburgh Napier University. The event is sponsored by Skills Development Scotland (SDS). We will welcome up to 20 current doctoral researchers at the Summer School. Tutors will include Professor Mary McMahon (University of Queensland), Professor Rie Thomsen (Aarhus University), Professor Tristram Hooley (University of Derby), and Dr Julia Yates (City University).

Important dates:

- Registration Deadline: March 26th 2021

Documents for application

- A completed application form
- A CV in English
- A description of your doctoral research project, illustrating its relevance to the field of career guidance and counselling (1-2 pages)
- A certificate of enrolment as a PhD student (scanned copy) or other written statement from supervisor.

The documents must be submitted in electronic format. All applications must be submitted to Pete Robertson via this email address: p.robertson@napier.ac.uk

There is no fee for participating at the summer school. However, all participants will need to cover their own travelling and accommodation costs if the event is delivered on campus. We therefore advise eligible participants to apply for Erasmus mobility funding as soon as possible and will support any other relevant mobility agreements. Please do not book travel and accommodation prior to the announcement at the end of February.
